Workshop One: Kaupapa Māori Theory

Kaupapa Rangahau Workshop Series

Rangahau

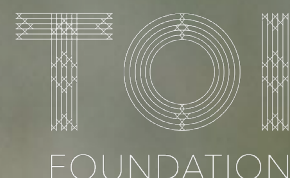

WORKSHOP OVERVIEW

Te Kāhui Rau, He Kāhui Mano, is a research and regeneration project of Ngāti Tāwhirikura hapu. Over the next decade, we plan to define our relationship with Te Taiao through whakapapa, mātauranga Māori, indigenous practices and the sciences. Our end goal is to enhance the health and vitality of our whenua and whānau.

With the support of Our Land & Water and Toi Foundation we are able to offer three two-day workshops featuring senior Māori scholars, Kaupapa Māori researchers and active Māori Community Development practitioners. We have a limited number of spaces available, but warmly invite those who share the transformative vision to heal our people through the restoration and revitalisation of Te Taiao.

This 2022 workshop series will be run over three months: September (Kaupapa Māori Theory), October (Kaupapa Māori Methodology) and November (Methods & case studies).

Our Land & Water

WORKSHOP ONE: KAUPAPA MĀORI THEORY

When: Monday 26 & Tuesday 27 September 2022

Venue: One Burgess Hill

Presenters: Professor Leonie Pihama, Professor Graham Hingangaroa Smith, Professor Linda Tuhiwai Smith and Ngaropi Cameron

Participants will learn how to develop appropriately defined research questions, objectives and aims in ways that are grounded within a Kaupapa Māori approach. This is an interactive workshop, encouraging participants to develop skills in creating appropriately methodological approaches and to determine the research methods that are most conducive to the research area and issues at hand.

Registration is essential. Please express your interest in joining us on this research and development journey by emailing kiaora@tekahuirau.nz

Leonie is recently completed two Health Research Council projects, 'He Oranga Ngākau: Māori Approaches to Trauma Informed Care', 'Honour Project Aotearoa', She is also working with Tū Tama Wahine o Taranaki Inc as an MBIE He Pūnaha Hihiko: Vision Mātauranga Capability Fund Placement recipient on the project 'Titiro whakamuri, kōkiri whakamua' exploring land based healing practices for wahine in Taranaki as a part of the Tangata Whenua Tangata Ora HRC Māori Health Programme led by Whaariki Research Centre.

Leonie is Principal Investigator with Professor Linda Tuhiwai Smith on the project 'He Waka Eke Noa: Māori cultural frameworks for violence prevention and intervention'.

Distinguished Professor Graham Hingangaroa

Ngāti Apa, Ngāti Kahungunu, Te Aitanga a Hauiti and Kāti Māmoe

Graham Hingangaroa Smith is Deputy Vice-Chancellor Māori at Massey University and was chief executive of Te Whare Wānanga o Awanuiārangi in Whakatane for eight years before retiring in 2015.

He has a Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts (Anthropology) with Honours and a PhD (Education) from the University of Auckland as well as a Teaching Diploma from Auckland Teachers College.

Professor Smith has been a key figure in the development of Kaupapa Māori theorising, which has had significant impact within the academy in New Zealand and international indigenous settings.

He taught in state and Kaupapa Māori schools in Auckland. After returning to the University of Auckland he was, in 1999, appointed Professor of Education – Māori Education and, in the same year, was appointed Pro Vice-Chancellor Māori and worked in the senior management team of the Office of the Vice-Chancellor.

Professor Smith worked in Canada at the University of British Columbia for six years, heading the Education Policy Studies Department in the Faculty of Education. He also worked building indigenous capacities and capabilities with many different Universities in Canada and around the Pacific Rim.

Professor Smith is known as a builder of transforming initiatives. Three national examples include: the establishment of Ngā Pae o te Maramatanga (the Māori Centre of Research Excellence), the MAI (Māori and indigenous graduate programme to establish 500 Māori doctoral graduates in five years), and he was the inaugural chair of the Council for Te Whare Wānanga o Awanuiārangi and led the Treaty of Waitangi claim for their settlement.
